THINGS ONE REMEMBERS

Gainesville News: The air is filled with theories and schemes to stabilize industry and agriculture.

We wonder if what good, old fashioned character, integrity, experience in owners and operators of various properties.

We are moved to make these remarks after looking over a statement of the Bank of California, that has been run strictly as a bank—no side issues—no frills—since 1864.

It has paid its 10 per cent annual dividend, depression or no depression, and an extra 2 per cent. Its ratio of capital to deposits is 1 to 1.513.

Can legislation of capital that kind of bank management be a good thing?

A good practical farmer that we know, bought a tractor for $3000. The "horse farmer" has made a constant profit out of his farm, even during the depression, and his team is as efficient today as it was when he bought it.

"The horse farmer" is broke—too much capital invested for the possible earning power of the land. The tractor is on the scrap heap.

As with banks, so with farming; their salvation depends on who "knows the business." All the "relief measures" in the world cannot save the inefficient, the wasteful and the ignorant from failure.

GOING AFTER BAD ONES

Your Uncle Sam is becoming somewhat peeved over the numerous kidnaping, bank robberies and gangstering that have become so frequent throughout the country in recent years, and he proposes to do something about it.

Many of the crimes which have horrified the people of the United States, especially since the World war, have been committed under circumstances which involve the territory of two or more states.

Ordinarily where a murder, or the robbery of a state bank, or any other crime committed within a state, the United States government can do nothing about it. These are matters wholly within the police powers of the several states.

But where the crime laps over, so to speak, into another state, Uncle Sam has the right to take a hand in the apprehension, conviction and punishment of the accused.

So now there are 12 district bills before congress, prepared by the attorney general, that are designed to curb many of the crimes with which the states are almost powerless to contend. The bills all have the approval of the president and will, undoubtedly, become laws.

The bills severally provide for taxing all dealers, manufacturers and importers of firearms and machine guns and to regulate the sale; to extend the scope of the national motor vehicle theft act; to include transportation in interstate commerce of other property of the value of $1000 or more; to provide punishment for robbing national banks and banks members of the federal reserve; to strengthen the so-called Linderberg act; to prevent racketeering in interstate commerce; to make it unlawful to flee from one state to another to avoid prosecution or to give testimony in felony cases; to eliminate evils in child delinquency; to limit the right of appeal in certain types of habeas corpus proceedings; to permit comment upon the failure of a defendant to testify in his own behalf; to permit wife to testify against her husband or the husband against his wife; to permit two or more states to enter into agreements to cooperate in the prevention of crime; to prevent extradition by the use of the telephone, radio or oral message transmitted in interstate commerce.

This is, or will be, a formidable array of laws against the criminals, whereas the perpetrators of which, heretofore, have had opportunities of escaping punishment.

These laws will bring into action the full force of the national government in the suppression of crime, and will, undoubtedly, bring about the end of lawlessness against society.

More power to Uncle Sam's arm.

Miami Herald.

Next November the people of Florida will vote on and either adopt or reject a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would let the governor elect judges at 14, giving the legislative power to appoint and disqualify judges, in fact, judges and an. Unless some good reason for its ratification is advanced by those who favor the proposed amendment, we are going to vote against it. The legislature already has all the power it needs to do everything necessary to be done with regard to judicial circuits, judges and state attorneys, and ratification of this proposed unnecessary amendment would serve only to still further confuse the constitution and bring the judiciary still further under the influence of politics and politicians.—Punta Gorda Herald.

Today's best: A year ago if a man had $100 in gold in his pocket he was a law abiding citizen. If he had a pair of whiskers in his pocket he was a criminal. Today if he has $100 in gold in his pocket he is a criminal, and if he has a pair of whiskers in his pocket he is a law abiding citizen.—DePuniak Springs Bee.

SOUTH BAY NEWS

DEATH OF R. E. LEE

SOUTH BAY, Feb. 26.—R. E. Lee passed away at his home on Sunday morning as result of injuries sustained in a collision with an automobile accident at the North New River canal bridge on Friday evening. The car in which Mr. Lee was riding with Mr. Corbett was hit by a heavy truck belonging to Mr. Grady of Belle Glade when the driver lost control of the truck. Mr. Lee was taken to the emergency hospital in Belle Glade where his injuries were pronounced as minor. Consequently his death came as a severe shock to relatives and friends. R. E. Lee was a native of Hattiesburg, Miss., seven months of age, the last three of which he has been a resident of South Bay. He leaves a wife and four children.

Black Hawk slapped him across the face with his chest. The Sank and Fox claim to what his union on his account, and both of the children, and he was an intriguer, who let nothing stand in the way of his ambition.

Helping the World—The blessed work of helping the poor and the unfortunate is a work that will be done by perfect men.—George Eliot.

Braille's Gift to the Blind—The Braille system of writing for the blind was invented by Louis Braille, a Frenchman, who lived from 1802-1852. He was blind almost from birth and attended the institute for the blind at Paris, where he became a teacher in 1828. He was at this institution when he formed the idea of modifying Braille's system of writing with points. Shortly afterward it was introduced into the Royal Institute, although it was published two years later. Since that time it has been adopted in most Continental schools and also in the United States.

Salary of the judge of the criminal court is cut from $4,230 to $3,000, this being required by law; that of the county attorney would be raised from $3,000 to $3,600; that of the supervisor of registration would be cut from $1,950 to $1,500, also required by law; and that of the assistant county auditor raised from $1,800 to $2,400.
